Suggested Shopping Places

You may purchase additional materials for your robots. However, you must note the following points:

1. Purchasing items is strictly optional. Depending on what you do, we may give you extra credits if you don't purchase something but instead find an ingenious way to fulfill the same purpose. Good creativity will be rewarded!
2. You will not be able to claim for your purchases. You are fully responsible for these purchases.
3. Do not spend excessively. We suggest that your maximum spend is $50 for the entire team ($12.50 per person for a 4-person group)
4. The list of shopping places given below are suggestions. We do not guarantee that they will have what you want, nor do we guarantee the quality of the items purchases or even the honesty of the sellers.
5. Further to point 4:
 - a. Shop around and compare prices if you are able to.
 - b. There are places that had past cheating cases. We will highlight these.
6. You are reminded that consultation sessions are mandatory. Therefore, if you go shopping ensure that you will still meet us on time.

Suggested Shopping Places

1. Electronic components, electronic supplies

Sim Lim Tower

<https://www.simlimtower.sg/>

10 Jalan Besar,
Singapore 208787

Nearest MRT: Rochor Station (Downtown Line)

You should be able to find electronic components in the basement and first two floors of this building. Prices may be slightly higher than online but should not be excessively so. You may check places like Shopee, Lazada and sgbotics.com for current prices of components.

Note:

There is a similarly named “Sim Lim Square” across the road. There have been past cheating cases here.

A cheating case from 2015:

2. Toys, shoes, clothes, electronics and much, much more!

Mustafa Centre

<https://www.mustafa.com.sg/>

145 Syed Alwi Road
Singapore 207704

Nearest MRT: Farrer Park MRT (Northeast Line)

This is arguably the best place in Singapore to buy cheap toys, clothes, shoes, electronics, even jewelry. There is also a currency exchange here. You are required to check in your bags before entering so we do not recommend carrying laptops or other expensive items inside your bags.

Mustafa Centre and the vicinity is very crowded and pickpockets and snatch thieves may be present. Keep a close watch on your belongings.

If you have never eaten Indian food, the area around Mustafa Centre has great and authentic Indian food.

3. Arts and Crafts

Art Friend

<https://artfriendonline.com/EN/OnlineUsers/Index>

Block 451 Clementi Avenue 3,
#03-307,
Singapore 120451.

Nearest MRT: Clementi (East West Line)

Art Friend is one of the best places in Singapore to buy things like poster paper, crayons, markers, foam boards, etc.

4. Radio Control Parts

Singapore Hobby

<https://www.singahobby.com/>

150 South Bridge Road, #B1-23
Fook Hai Building
Singapore 058727

Nearest MRT: Chinatown (Downtown Line / Northeast Line)

This is one of the most trusted sellers of radio control parts. Prices are very high, and you will most likely bust your budget.
